

For this forum, the abstract is the same as the proposal.

A chance for members of the online forum Systems (<http://www.systems.org> <<http://www.systems.org/>> ) to meet in person, and for potential new members to see who we are and what we do. Systems is a women-only online forum for technical women providing them with a place to share, learn, mentor, mentee, vent, and explore the technical work world with like minded women. In this BOF we will be exploring what people like and want from our forum, and in what ways we can set up infrastructure to expand what we already have.

Expected audience: Women currently members of the systems forum, women interested in joining systems.

Session leader qualifications: Robin Jeffries is a Distinguished Engineer at Sun Microsystems, Inc.. Since 1999 Robin Jeffries has been "Her Systems Keeper", the moderator of the Systems forum.
